Background & Experience

Drew Hill, originally from Austin, TX, comes to NAI Shames Makovsky with a diverse background as an independent business owner and former internationally competitive road cyclist. Drew's primary focus is Denver's competitive and thriving industrial market, where he has teamed with Paul Kahn, a 20-year veteran in the Denver industrial market in sales, leasing, national tenant representation and build-to-suit projects. Drew thrives on the ability to problem-solve for clients and businesses quickly and efficiently and has participated in multiple industrial re-purposing projects, build-to-suits, and 1031 exchange transactions.
